

How Good is the Legal Description?

The test is whether the property can be identified on the ground, given all of the above information and, sometimes, outside evidence.